

How are we as Agile Coaches standing in our own way?

How do we create a distance between us + the ideology?

Fear about being replaced by another

Are we doing enough to compare how we worked before with how improvements make us know better?

Memory is not a picture.

We need better ways to sponsor people coming up through the ranks

Agile as the objective creates an ugly business where our continuous improvement stops
No craftsmanship/competency approach cause coaches to put one another down
↳ limits growth

WE ARE NOT AWARE OF OUR OWN BLIND SPOTS + SHADOW